

Rules and Regulations

The Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum would like to welcome and thank everyone for supporting Trivia Night. Below is a list of rules for you to follow, so put your thinking caps on and ENJOY yourselves!

1. There will be ten rounds played, with ten questions in each round.
2. Each answer is worth one point for a total of 100 points for the game.
3. No partial scores will be accepted.
4. No cell phones, PDA's, or computers are allowed. And, please turn off your cell phones.
5. Each question will be read only twice.
6. There will be a time limit of 60 seconds per question in which you must write your answer. After the final question of each round, an additional 2 minutes will be allowed to review answers and submit them to the judges.
7. Each team consists of the people assigned to your table. (Sorry, you cannot move from one table to another.)
8. The MC will signal the end of each round, at which time, the team captain or an assigned team member will turn in your answer sheet to the judges.
9. At the end of each round, the correct answers will be read.
10. The judges will keep a running total of each team's scores by posting them on the power point screen between rounds.
11. Intermission will follow the fourth and eighth rounds, with door prizes.
12. In the event of a tie, we will ask predetermined tie breaker questions.
13. Reminder!!!! This is an evening of fun. Although you may disagree with an answer, the judges' decision is final. And please note, the Lincoln questions have been verified by our historians here at the Museum.

Have fun, and let the games begin!!!
